I signed up for Okcupid again a few days ago (I know, shoot me in the face). I opened my laptop after wrapping up work and had a profile still up from last night. It gives you permanent anxiety. If there's one thing that I've learned in the last year, it's that life is really really stressful. It never lets up. The shit keeps getting.

Lately I've seen a lot about the ridiculously enormous lists of things that person must have or be before even being considered as a prospective date. I admit. WRONG! My first day back to work after vacation, DIG came breezing through the doors as usual. I was actually really excited to see him. I didn't know I would be. Each of the people listed here are people I have personally experienced a debacle of dating. Some were boyfriends. Some were just one off dates.
