The Colorado Health Foundation has committed $1 million to join the BUILD Health Challenge Implementation Awardees: Omni Health Network, the Beumont Foundation, and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. This commitment aims to improve health outcomes by working to reduce health disparities among children and adults by addressing conditions that lead to poor health outcomes.

In an interview, David Fukuzawa, the Kresge Foundation's managing director for health, talks about why his organization got involved in the BUILD Health Challenge. The Kresge Foundation has developed a new initiative to help equip local public health officers with knowledge and skills to lead in today's changing health care. To connect with The Kresge Foundation, sign up for Facebook today. 'Kresge Foundation Health Program leader lauds Supreme Court decision.

Kresge's Health Program has refined its grantmaking strategy to reflect external changes, like the ongoing implementation of the Affordable Care Act. Omada Health Announces Investment from the California Health Care Foundation and The Kresge Foundation to Deliver Online Diabetes Prevention Programs.

Local public health officers in nearly a dozen states have been selected to take part in a Kresge Foundation initiative to enhance their ability to lead in today's changing health care landscape.
The BUILD Health Challenge – created in fall 2014 by the Advisory Board Company, the de Beaumont Foundation, the Colorado Health Foundation, The Kresge, The Public Health Institute (PHI), in partnership with The Reinvestment Fund and with a generous grant from the Kresge Foundation, announces the launch. A panel discussion at the American Public Health Association's national conference, November. The Kresge Foundation E-mail: info@kresge.org

This program seeks to build strong, healthy cities by promoting the integration of arts and culture. @TheLancet

Commission maps out health impacts of climate change: buzz.mw/b6gow_f. Retweets 4, Favorites 2, ECAASJ Mind Body

Transform Village. But where the Kresge Foundation is going with its health funding is another Last month, the foundation said it was zeroing in on two profound challenges. A new paper by two Kresge Foundation health and housing experts makes the case that philanthropy should rethink its approaches to low-income housing.

The Kresge Foundation has awarded a pair of three-year, $2.25 million grants to Families, and Communities to fund the national initiative Moving Health Care.

Omada Health Announces Investment from the California Health Care Foundation and The Kresge Foundation to Deliver Online Diabetes Prevention Programs.

Photo by Kresge Foundation The 2015 Kresge Innovative Projects: Detroit will affect an organization that prepares youth for careers in health and wellness.
Accepting applications for activities that are both cross-sector (public, private) and cross-disciplinary initiatives under the broad theme of Strong, Healthy Places.

DENVER – The Colorado Health Foundation announced a funding The Kresge Foundation is a $3 billion private, national foundation that works to expand.

A new paper by two Kresge Foundation health and housing experts makes the case that philanthropy should rethink its approaches to low-income housing. The toolkit provides information on housing market trends and research on the links between rising housing costs and poor health outcomes. (An executive. The BUILD Health Challenge was founded by The Advisory Board Company, the de Beaumont Foundation, the Colorado Health Foundation, The Kresge.

The Kresge Foundation in Troy, Michigan, has announced a $10 million equity rinks, a health and training facility, and a 50,000-square-foot community center.

>>>CLICK HERE<<<